Netflix Party

Now active Netflix subscribers can host and participate in virtual watch parties for Netflix with their loved ones. Using the new-age and contemporary extension called Netflix Party, users can create virtual theaters for themselves. Therefore, enjoy your Netflix favorites with your remote-living friends and family.

The extension works with Microsoft Edge, Mozilla Firefox, and Google Chrome. To begin streaming movies and TV shows with your friends and family, you can install it on any of those browsers. The extension works by synchronizing the video playback of every user. Furthermore, the group host gets full control of the watch party. Therefore, if the group decides to pause the movie briefly to get more snacks, everyone's screens will stop and start again simultaneously.

You can utilize the built-in chat tool on Netflix Watch Party to express your opinions and responses to the currently playing movie. Hence, watching your preferred content while conversing on the side provides a shared real-time experience. An active Netflix subscription and a secure web browser like Microsoft Edge or Google Chrome are all you need to host a virtual watch party.

Watch Movies Together Online
Organizing a watch party for Netflix is an easy way to turn your living room into a virtual space where you and your loved ones can connect while watching your Netflix shows, movies, and more. Additionally, your watch party can accommodate up to 100 guests.

Follow the detailed instructions below to learn how to host and participate in a Netflix viewing party:

- Install the watch party extension initially, which you can accomplish by tapping here. Additionally, you can download it from your current browser's web store.
- After installation, please pin the extension to the browser's toolbar.
- Now use your login information to access your Netflix streaming account.
- Search for and start playing any video you wish to share with everyone once you've logged in.
- Subsequently, you visit the browser from the video-playing screen and activate the extension by tapping on the icon.

- To start a party, select the "START A PARTY" button on the pop-up box that appears.
- Consequently, the watch party invitation will then be generated. Then, copy the URL for the watch party invitation and send it to the participants.
