

Playtech was in Switzerland from the beginning

Switzerland acted almost exactly like Germany when it came to online gambling. Compared to other countries, Switzerland legalized online gambling very late, but at least earlier than Germany. Since 2019, Swiss people have been happy to play games through their computers, not always have to drive to local casinos. Playtech took advantage of this opportunity and has been working with Swiss casinos since legalization.

Until 2019, Swiss casinos operated only on-site casinos. However, it took advantage of the moment of legitimate online casinos and since then, Swiss casinos have also been offering online games. This was not an issue thanks to the cooperation with Playtech. On the other hand, the game maker was happy to promote iPoker in Switzerland last year.

The time has come for Playtech to set up a studio in Zurich's Swiss casino. But that doesn't mean the players show up there either. Rather, it works so that players can sit comfortably at home and log in to the casino through a smartphone or PC. That way, the players are seated at the live table.

A wide range of games

To provide as many players as possible with a special gaming experience, dealers hired by Playtech Studio speak Swiss as their native language. This actually gives gambling fans the feeling that they are in a Swiss casino. But what games are available to customers? There are roulette, seven-seater blackjack and blackjack all bets. The latter variant represents a combination between blackjack and betting, as there are six additional side bets.

Progressive side bets can be especially popular if the player receives four aces. But it's certainly interesting if the dealer overpurchases. If you've ever made such a bet, the player will be happy to win another one. Also, the low stakes I have to do for a round of games are a pleasure. The stakes are between 50 cents and one euro.

You might wonder what Playtech Studios means if no one is allowed in. There must also be a live casino in order to provide a live casino experience. Otherwise, it will be an online game again. Both companies are happy with the live casino experience. They see it as positive evidence of their partnership and hope, of course, that it will boost sales. 슬롯머신

Playtech has been increasing since 1999

Playtech is one of the few companies in the gaming industry that has remained relatively consistent since its inception. It was founded in Isle of Man and still operates its headquarters there. However, Playtech has reached the point where it now has 12 branches. They are spread across Europe and Asia and employ a total of 3,600 people. From the beginning, it was a software manufacturer specializing in making casino games.