

Common Myths and Misconceptions About Facet Blocks

Facet blocks are a widely used procedure to diagnose and treat pain originating from the spine's facet joints. Despite their effectiveness, several myths and misconceptions exist about this treatment, particularly regarding facet blocks in Chicago. This article will dispel some common myths and clarify what patients can expect.

Learn more - <https://www.exnol.com/common-myths-and-misconceptions-about-facet-blocks/>