This time, the World Women's Volleyball All-Star Game, which will be held for the first time in Korea, will be held along with the last national event game of Kim Yeon-koung and several other players, which was postponed due to COVID-19.

Also, with the motto 'Not end, but and' as the motto, it's the last chance to see the players representing the Korean women's volleyball wearing uniforms and is filled with stories of Kim Yeon-koung's first new volleyball.

The event, which starts with Media Day and the eve of June 7, will be held on the 8th, the first day of the official schedule, with the National Team Event Game and the National Team Retirement Ceremony hosted by the Korea Volleyball Association, and the last day will be decorated with the World Women's Volleyball All-Star Game hosted by Ryan At Co., Ltd. on the 9th.

Domestic players who led the golden age of the Korean women's volleyball team will be joined, and former and incumbent global women's volleyball players, who boasted of their cross-border friendship with Kim Yeon-koung, will visit Korea in response to Kim Yeon-koung's invitation.

The event will be available through NFTs and general tickets. NFT ticket buyers will be given the opportunity to purchase tickets first and purchase limited-edition digital and physical goods.

Existing KYK Foundation digital membership members can purchase NFT tickets first through the FNCY digital goods platform on the 8th and 9th. From the 10th, ordinary fans can purchase NFT tickets, and regular tickets will be opened on the 20th of next month.
