

Do hospitals have the right to withhold medical records from their patients or authorised representa

withhold medical records Introduction

If you're experiencing difficulty accessing your medical records, understand that you have the right to obtain them. According to regulations, patients or their authorized representatives are legally entitled to their own medical records. Screening tests can identify possible signs of cancer or other issues, but they do not confirm or rule out a diagnosis. If your screening results indicate abnormalities...

withhold medical records FAQs

1. Is it legal for hospitals to withhold medical records from patients or their authorised attendants?
2. What is the process for requesting medical records?
3. What are the different kinds of documents that the doctor should share with the patient?

4. Is it legal for hospitals to charge patients for copies of their records?
5. How long is the doctor or hospital obliged to store the medical records of a patient?

To Know More: Withhold Medical Records

Health Commune

Email Id: connect@healthcommune.in

Website: <https://www.healthcommune.in>