What is D365 F&O Called Now?

Microsoft Dynamics 365 Finance and Operations (D365 F&O) has undergone a rebranding as part of Microsoft's evolving strategy to align its business applications more closely with specific functional areas. As of 2023, D365 F&O is officially split into two standalone applications: Dynamics 365 Finance and Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management (SCM). Dynamics 365 Online Training

Why the Change?

Microsoft's decision to split D365 F&O reflects the growing need for specialized solutions that cater to distinct business functions. Instead of a single application encompassing both financial management and supply chain operations, organizations can now implement and scale the applications according to their specific needs. This separation also enhances modularity and allows businesses to adopt either or both solutions without unnecessary complexity. Microsoft Dynamics AX Training

Dynamics 365 Finance

Dynamics 365 Finance focuses primarily on financial management, covering areas like budgeting, financial reporting, accounts payable/receivable, and global financial operations. It serves as a powerful solution for businesses looking to streamline financial workflows, manage risk, and drive strategic financial decisions. Microsoft Dynamics 365 Online Training

Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management (SCM)

Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management is tailored for optimizing supply chain operations. It provides capabilities such as demand planning, production management, inventory control, and logistics. The solution is designed to enhance operational efficiency and resilience across manufacturing and distribution.

Key Benefits of the Split

1. Modularity and Flexibility: Businesses can adopt solutions based on specific needs without the overhead of unnecessary features.
2. Scalability: Organizations can scale each application independently as they grow.
3. Targeted Updates: Microsoft can deliver more focused enhancements for finance and supply chain operations. Microsoft Dynamics AX Technical Training

In summary,

While the name "Dynamics 365 Finance and Operations" is no longer used, its core capabilities live on in Dynamics 365 Finance and Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management, offering businesses more targeted solutions for their unique needs.
