One of the biggest concerns of ASC is How to get the Certification for Drug and Alcohol Program Professionals and also why it is necessary and who is eligible for the certification. ASC concentrates on the industry challenges like existing legal issues in drug testing. There are many rules and laws governing drug testing like FCRA and Adverse effect law which states that the employees consent should be got before drug testing and also in case of positive result the employee should be informed about the report and why he is denied the job. Also focus was given to Creating Effective Policy for Employee Wellness Programs which should be made known to all the employees before hiring. Another problem is the quality and method of different types of sample collection for drug testing which checks the purity of the sample and if the specimen is adulterated or diluted. The most common challenge faced by the industry is the safety of the concern due to the increasing number of drug addicted people. This is due to the fact that accidents might happen and damage human life and property of the company.
