Here is the guide.

Step 1: Install The AutoDS Helper Chrome Extension

The first step is to install the AutoDS Chrome extension on your Chrome browser, or you can install it directly from the Shopify app store: this will also add the extension to your Chrome browser.

To install the AutoDS extension, follow the steps:

- Visit the Google Chrome web store by searching the term “chrome web store” in Google.
- Click on the first link, and the Chrome web store will be open.
- Now search “auto ds” in the search bar on the page you landed.
- Click on the app with the title “AutoDS: Dropshipping Helper.”
- Now click on “Add to Chrome.”
- Your Chrome browser will successfully add the AutoDS extension.

After installing the extension, you can restart your browser. Now let’s move to the second step of adding products to your Shopify store.

Note: You can see installed extensions in the left Chrome search bar; if not, click on the extensions icon (a puzzle outline icon) and pin AutoDS.

Step 2: Export the Products From Your AliExpress Suppliers Page

Now you can easily export the products with the AutoDS extension. Follow the steps below:

- Visit Aliexpress and find the products page you want to import.
- Click on the AutoDS circle in the bottom right corner of your screen.
- Click on “Extract”, A list will open with all the product IDs on the page.
- Click on “Export as CSV” to download all product IDs.

Step 3: Import the Products to Your Store via CSV

You have exported all the product IDs list now, upload them using AutoDS bulk uploader. You can configure settings, whether you can upload them immediately or schedule them for later.

The AutoDs app saves you the time and effort of uploading products one by one from AliExpress. You can also use AutoDS’ automation features to streamline the order fulfillment process; the time you save here you can use in growing your business.

All three steps done, you have successfully linked AliExpress to your Shopify store, and uploaded the product without much effort.
