

Guide to Choosing the Best Heat Pump Water Heater in New Zealand

A heat pump water heater operates by extracting warmth from the surrounding air, converting it into heat energy, and using that energy to heat water. This process uses electricity to power the pump but consumes significantly less energy than traditional electric water heaters, making it an energy-efficient option. Click Here For More Information heat pump hot water nz.