

Shocking News Pushpa 2's 3D Version Release Postponed

Having gained a rage at box office sales, the makers of Pushpa 2 have postponed the release of the 3D version to December 13th instead of December 5th.

Audiences were already shocked when the makers announced a 3D version, since the first part did not have the 3D version, but the makers played on the sequel hype.

Reason for the delay is that the 3D prints are not yet ready, and is expected to be ready by December 13th. The team raced against time to complete the post-production works and hence the 3D version is not arriving this week.

The exhibitors across all the regions have been informed about this latest development. It is believed that the makers have made enough money already for the 3D version, since the ticket booking were opened in advance, the audiences money should be adjusted accordingly, while the theatres have started removing the 3D shows.

Pushpa 2 3D version delay is surely a huge disappointment for movie lovers and fans of Allu Arjun and Rashmika Mandanna across the globe.
