

The trucking industry has experienced a major transformation with the implementation of the Electronic Logging Device (ELD) Mandate. It has a major impact on the trucking business after it came into force. Before ELD mandate, truck drivers used paper logbooks for recording their HOS. These logbooks were easily falsifiable leading to incorrect track record and low levels of compliance.

On the other hand ELD mandate enhance compliance with hours-of-service and ensure safety on the roads by connecting directly to the engine computer of a truck. This has made the ELD device not just a requirement but a critical component for efficient operations. However with so many available options choosing the right ELD providers in Canada is a challenging task.
