

Key Aspects of the Service of Summons in South Africa

In South Africa, the service of summons is a formal legal process used to inform a defendant (the person being sued) that a civil case has been instituted against them in court. This step is crucial because it ensures that the defendant is made aware of the legal action and is given the opportunity to respond.