Chapter 21

In the locker room, Karin and Hori Sensei are changing their clothes after the long school festival day. The two exchange praises with one another complimenting their sexy figures and assets. Karin gets to see how much treasure of a body Hori Sensei is hiding underneath her usual getup. To be fair, Hori Sensei claims that it would be very troublesome if the boys were to have such a brazenly sexy teacher, hence the extra effort to cover herself up. Karin agrees that it sure would be troublesome especially for Kise. When Hori Sensei asks her why she mentioned Kise, Karin talks about how she could sorta understand how Kise would feel there. In her case with Suma Sensei she would drown herself in superiority complex before for being Suma Sensei's secret girlfriend, but the thing with Mami today was enough to her make experience jealousy. The two then start arguing about whether Suma Sensei is a cool guy or not since for Hori Sensei, Mami's case is an irregular one and is not an indication that Suma Sensei's popular with girls (lol). In the end, Hori Sensei praises how deeply in love Karin is with Suma Sensei. In response, Karin also says the same thing to her with Kise. She mentions about the plan Hori Sensei came up with just to be with Kise (the Sadako switcheroo). Being reminded of that made Hori Sensei blush in embarrassment. She shyfully claims that that was just to tease Kise, but Karin ain't buying it. Hori Sensei then fights back by reminding her about how crazy she (Karin) went last night with their consensual voyeur play. In response, Amuro panicks in embarrassment as she throws a counter mentioning the school sex Hori Sensei and Kise had where they got busted. Finally, Hori Sensei ends this childish banter and apologizes instead. She then confesses about how she has the habit of making careless decisions on the spot. Even in that time when she saved Karin from being assaulted by Kise, she admits that she was only just calm on the front but was actually super panicking since she did not expect for Kise to go that far with his actions. Learning about this, Karin couldn't help but comment on how cute this side of Hori Sensei is. Anyway, onto the more important part... As agreed, Hori Sensei will do something about the Mami situation, but she still has yet to come up with a good plan at the moment.

We now head to Tsutsumi and his two ladies. The three switch into various sex positions as the two girls try their best to make Tsutsumi cum. Anna begins to worry that he ain't feeling good with them, but Tsutsumi tells them that he is. It's just that this might be the last straw of good luck he'll ever get, so he thinks that it's best to make it last as long as possible. Heika then starts kissing him as she assures him that this won't be the last. In fact, she wants to have another round after this at her place. And so, the two beg for Kise to cum. They then proceed to ride on top of Kise while kissing each other. Eventually, the two girls feel the urge to cum but luckily Tsutsumi soon began feeling the same. And so, the three came together with our man giving the two a facial finish. Seeing Tsutsumi's extremely pleased face makes the girls find his face cute as usual. Anyway, he now has to go help in the cleanup of the booths so he parts ways with the two from here.

We now move to Kise and his homies who are helping the class disassemble the booth. Kise's homies begin to tease him about his sexy time with "Karin" while on shift. Kise then recalls Hori Sensei's words from earlier:

"...I will be your worth."

With this, he finds the resolve to finally tell them boys:

"Amuro and I...have already broken up."

The boys are naturally shocked by the news. When they asked for a reason, Kise casually tells them that Amuro actually had another guy (Bruh. I am not sure if saying this is a good move and I don't think they had this planned out). However, Sussing homie here is a little bit confused. He wonders why she let him do it with her then (Remember that this mfo got to fuck Sadako for a bit). He finally reveals this to Kise and Kise becomes mad. "There's no way Amuro would do something like that!" he screams at his homie's face. Kise asks when such thing happened, and here begins his misery. Sussing Homie retells how earlier this noon, "Karin" thought that he was Kise so he was able to put his dick inside her eventually. Anyway, Sussing Homie says that this stuff won't matter to him(Kise) anymore since they've broken up already. From here on, Kise simply remains silent as his homies begin to gossip amongst themselves about this:

"Wait, so Amuro's got another man but she didn't resist when you fucked her? Man, that's some actual Netori shit!"

"She probably still loves Kise's dick after they broke up, no?"

"So that means she ain't satisfied with her current man, then."

"I guess Amuro's quite the nympho for craving for sex that early in the day."

One of the boys who missed the action expresses his doubts if Sussing homie really did fuck Karin, but Lighting homie vouches for him since he, himself, got to see him go at it. After a long period of silence, Kise finally speaks up:

"Did you... really... fuck Sadako?"

Sussing Homie once again confirms it, but adds that it was unfortunately cut short after getting interrupted. After hearing this very specific info, Kise begins to recall his exchange with Hori Sensei when they were about to have sex earlier:

K: "Looks like you're very much raring to have sex, huh. What happened to being careful, then?"

H: "Well, I can't help it, especially after stopping midway earlier."

As the boys tell Kise that he should've told them earlier about their breakup so Sussing Homie could've stopped holding himself back back there, Kise clutches his fist and in his face shows a mix of anger and despair.

We now move to Mami and Suma Sensei who have met again to continue their confrontation from before as promised. Suma Sensei asks Mami what it is that she wants. After a brief pause, she begins to speak.

"Suma Sensei, you have seen me have sex with Ryuu-kun countless of times. I have also flashed my butt to you several times already, yet not once did you got turned on by me."

That was frustrating.

I want you to be turned on by me. I want you to want me. I want you to enjoy my body.

The immorality of a student dating a teacher....

Ryuu-kun doesn't make me feel any immorality. He willingly brags about how lewd I am to another man.

*That's why I want for another man to hold me behind Ryuu-kun's back.
And then, I want to know what Ryuu-kun would do once he learns about what I did."*

"What a pervert!" Suma Sensei thought to himself. (Indeed, the message here is that a new weird fetish woke up inside Mami.)

Mami begins to undress as she continues. She reminds Suma Sensei of the trump card she has on him and once again uses it to force blackmail. She is now only wearing her stockings, her uniform ribbon, and a very sexy underwear. Finally she says:

"I will keep this a secret from Karin Amuro so do not worry. I will now have you, Sensei, fuck me. Please do use me to finally extinguish the roots of your headache."

Funnily enough, Karin has actually been listening through the scene since the very beginning and has been quite irritated for a while now. But finally, Hori Sensei enters the scene by first praising Mami's sexy butt. Mami asks what this is all about. Hori Sensei reveals to her that she had already heard everything from Suma Sensei and thus, she has come here to tell her the truth. Hori Sensei then finally comes clean and says:

"The voice that you heard during that time was actually mine."

Suma Sensei simply watches the scene go on as he wonders how Hori Sensei intends to overcome this. Hori Sensei then picks up Mami's uniform and puts it back on her as she continues her confession:

"At that time and place, I have committed an act that as a teacher and as an adult, must never ever be done. I truly apologize for causing you trouble with my action. I am sorry."

Mami then speaks to Suma Sensei and calls him unmanly for making Hori Sensei say all this for him. However, Suma Sensei claims that she wouldn't have likely believed it if it were to have come from his mouth anyway. Hori Sensei then adds to that and say:

"And also, I was the one who offered to be one to explain it. After all, Suma Sensei and I are dating."

Suma Sensei dies (lol). Hori Sensei then begins to debunk Mami's bento evidence. She claims that she was actually the one who made that for Suma Sensei and that she also makes some for Karin every now and then since Karin's quite the busy girl. This should explain why both of them had the exact same bento on that day that Mami noticed them. For Mami all of these information is too sudden for her to simply believe right away. However, Hori Sensei turns it up and says:

"This is not about you believing it or not. You threatened a teacher with nothing but an evidence that holds very little water. You tried to bring down MY LOVER."

Mami stands her ground by reminding Hori Sensei that if her story were to be true, what they did within school grounds still stands to be wrong. Hori Sensei admits that she's got a point there but she throws it back to Mami who also have done the same thing within school grounds with Ryuu-kun as well. She then says:

"If anything, you are the one who'll lose the most once this goes public. After all, you tried to blackmail Suma Sensei in exchange for sex behind your boyfriend's back. But at this point, there's no way you'll ever achieve that goal. If you still want to go report this, then go ahead."

Mami looks down in embarrassment as Hori Sensei continues to turn the tables around her. She tells poor Mami that if she were to stay put and keep quiet from here on out, then she can assure her that this situation won't reach anyone else's ears. Finally, she orders her to put her clothes back on.

The defeated Mami continues to look down as she begins to put her uniform back on. While doing so, Suma Sensei tries to have a moment here with Mami and tells her that he's happy to hear that she likes him but as he was about to reject her, Mami cuts in to tell him that she actually doesn't like him. To her, he just happens to be a convenient man to use. She then apologizes for causing him any misunderstanding. Funnily enough, this makes Sensei feel like he's the one who just got rejected or something lol.

Mami then obediently leaves the room. Observing how Mami's acting, Hori Sensei notices that she is the type of girl who hates to lose. Anyway, Karin finally comes out of hiding to complain to Hori Sensei about her suddenly becoming Suma Sensei's lover. As much as Hori Sensei also didn't want this to happen, that was the only thing she managed to come up with on the spot. Naturally, both Suma Sensei and Karin show their disapproval of this outcome. Still, Hori Sensei tries to reason that on the bright side, this could be a very convincing camouflage for their relationship. If needed, the two Senseis can just put up a small act in front of Mami and just claim later on that they broke up. But Karin still isn't in favor of this so she continues to complain about this a bit more until the scene ends.

Mami now walks alone in the dark corridor as thinking about how frustrating and embarrassing that was for her. Dark thoughts swims all over her mind and so, she swears to herself that she cannot forgive them. From a distance, she hears Suma Sensei's voice coming from a recorded video of him introducing his class's booth. We then see Tsutsumi turning that TV off to carry it back to the AV room (audiovisual). Mami calls his attention but as usual, Tsutsumi mistakenly starts talking to a poster.

Afterword

We have another anime reference title. This time, it's a "Bottom-Tier Character, Tomozaki-kun" parody which goes in this chapter as:

"Top-Tier Character, Tsutsumi-kun"

What a packed chapter we have. It covered pretty much every ongoing and relevant plot we have and we're also starting to see them slowly intertwine with one another.

First, the initial scene in the locker room shows us a different side of Hori Sensei. All this time, we saw her carrying a fiesty and confident personality as she endlessly tease Suma Sensei and Kise with her words. However, the fact that she's actually barely keeping her composure on check when putting up with tough situations shows us the cute side she's hiding. We also get a strong proof that even if she tease Kise so hard a lot, she still really has quite the thing for him. However, this whole scene was heavily used mainly to foreshadow how she would handle Mami situation in the latter half of this chapter.

We then get to see Tsutsumi's threesome action finally cumming to an end. Man's got some serious good luck today, huh. At this point, he really does feel like a very different character from when he was introduced. Not really quite a top-tier in my list just yet, but he's definitely going upwards.

The next one covered is the Kise dilemma which was quite a big one. He really had just started taking Hori Sensei seriously, but then this bomb just dropped on his face. This could eventually cause a rift in his relationship with Hori Sensei, and we're all gonna be betting whether he'll stick with her or lose his way. Kise's quite an interesting character who went from being NTR'd, into almost becoming a r*pist, then into undergoing harsh rehab through NTR again, and then into finally fixing his wrong ways bit by bit. And now, he learns that his homie got to fuck his girl? Yeah, this man gets no break. What's worse is that this scene also shows to us that the rumors about Karin is not getting any better, at least among Kise's homies. This is yet another time bomb that will very likely catch our main crew off-guard while they're busy handling Mami.

Speaking of, we finally have the Mami situation up again. The two Senseis are now supposed to be a couple in disguise which honestly, was a little unexpected. I feel like this poses a lot more problems than if she were to have just told the full truth. But like I said, the first scene in this chapter kinda foreshadowed this outcome when we learn that Hori Sensei does a lot of on-the-spot decisions out of panic. We also get to know that she really likes Kise that much so it at least, makes sense that she would choose to protect Kise by making herself and Suma Sensei the scapegoat couple. But yeah, this just means that Suma Sensei's worries are far from over especially with how Mami is a sore loser who doesn't know when to admit defeat. Still, this now opens up a possibility for a sex scene between the two Senseis so I can't say I am not excited for this.

So far though, I have no confident guesses as to what Mami plans to do from here. She does not know anything about Tsutsumi maybe other than him being one of Suma Sensei's students, so I highly doubt she would report the two Senseis to Tsutsumi of all people. If anything though, it might be that she would go and fuck with Tsutsumi as a form of revenge to Suma Sensei. Maybe she'll be like: "You caused this to happen to me by rejecting my offer," or something like that. This twist will utilize the recently revealed sexual prowess of Tsutsumi while also somehow causing trouble to our main crew and to Tsutsumi's ladies. However, I feel like this chapter really gave more hints pointing to the fact that Mami likes Suma Sensei more than she's willing to admit. So I don't know.

Overall, this chapter did a great job with providing us various subplot updates while also progressing the main one quite a lot. We also got to see Tsutsumi finally making contact with the Mami situation. Once Kise's thing with his homies eventually reaches our main crew's ears, everything will be entwined together and the school festival drama from there will only get bigger and bigger. The festival might have been over but the arc is not yet finished. Next chapter will likely bring us more of the Tsutsumi-Mami encounter and maybe some of the Anna and Heika round 2 with Tsutsumi or some more progress on the Kise situation. Chapter 22 is scheduled for next month's release of Ananga Ranga so until then.
