

Bioactive Wound Dressing Market Set to Surpass USD 16 Billion by 2031 as Chronic Wounds and Outpatient

[London, 24 July 2025] – The global bioactive wound dressing market is expected to reach USD 16.35 billion by 2031, up from USD 8.47 billion in 2024, with a CAGR of 10.1%, according to Clearview Market Insights (CVMI). The growth is due to the increasing use of biologically active dressings for chronic and post-surgical wounds, as well as higher adoption in home healthcare.

“Bioactive dressings go beyond protection—they actively enhance wound healing,” said Dr. Celia Tan, Principal Analyst at CVMI. “This market is evolving rapidly, driven by advances in biopolymers, embedded sensors, and antimicrobial formulations.”

Major players include Smith & Nephew, Mölnlycke Health Care, ConvaTec, and 3M Health Care, each focusing on next-generation product formats and collaborations with telemedicine providers. North America remains the largest market, while Asia-Pacific is emerging as the fastest-growing region.

Recent innovations like silver-embedded foam dressings, growth factor-infused matrices, and smart dressings that monitor wound conditions are expected to transform clinical protocols. At the same time, global aid organizations are increasing the distribution of bioactive kits in under-resourced healthcare systems.
