

SEO @ Erome.xxx | Data-driven growth & performance

I work at the intersection of search, data, and user behavior — optimizing how content is discovered, consumed, and converted at scale. At Erome, my focus is on building sustainable traffic through SEO strategies that align with real user intent, while continuously improving performance across the entire funnel.

From technical SEO and content structure to analytics and testing, everything is driven by measurable results. The goal is simple: increase visibility, maximize engagement, and turn organic traffic into consistent growth.

Always testing, always optimizing.
