Las Vegas, Nevada – 04/20/2021: While the COVID-19 pandemic is decidedly still not over, there are signs of hope and slow, gradual economic recovery. For businesses that want to jumpstart their growth, Responsive Web Solutions provides a holistic approach, combining the best practices in internet marketing with innovative website design in Las Vegas.

There's a common saying in today's world that goes something like this: if a business doesn't show up on the first page of Google, it may as well not exist at all. Having been in the industry since 1999, the team of experts at Responsive Web Solutions is well aware of what it takes—and what it means—for a business to show up in those highly coveted top rankings.

A representative for the company had this to say, “Once a business has a solid, well-designed website up and running, the most important thing for it is to push forward with a comprehensive SEO plan. Every action a company performs online has to be geared toward the singular goal of improving its SEO ranking and boosting its online presence. Even when they're searching for non-urgent topics, people always want answers as fast as possible. That's why businesses should aim for the top spots in Google's search results. Better visibility leads to increased traffic, which in turn can lead to greater success for a company.”

As recently as 10 to 15 years ago, digital marketing was little more than an afterthought for organizations. With minimal budgeting and resource allocation, much of the focus back then used to be on having a website and updating it periodically.

However, the situation changed drastically with the rise of social media platforms and with companies in every industry recognizing the importance of having an online presence. It has now become crucial for businesses to stand out on the internet and differentiate themselves from their competitors.

Accordingly, digital marketing in 2021 is a sprawling, complex field of its own, comprising of activities, such as reputation management, search engine optimization, content marketing, social media marketing, and pay-per-click marketing, to name a few.

Discussing this further, the representative added, “No matter which industry a business is in, and no matter its size or field of work, if it doesn’t keep working on its online presence, it will lose out on customers and will likely fail entirely. Internet marketing isn’t a one-and-done thing, and its rules keep changing regularly. That’s why companies need to consistently identify areas of improvement in their online presence, and work on doing better every day, every month, and every year.”

In this day and age, a company needs to have a high-quality, established presence on the internet; not just in the form of a functional and visually appealing website, but also through the implementation of a robust digital marketing strategy.
