

Can you travel in Nepal in 2021 autumn ?

Looking at this scenario, Nepal is one of the most affected country by COVID-19 after Brazil, India, United Kingdom and France and there is no sign of being controlled. After first wave of COVID-19, Nepal is facing second wave by double mutant variant of Corona. Peaking at 10,000 daily new infected and 215 new deaths make Nepal as most affected country around the world. However the situation is now becoming quite peaceful and it is in decreasing phase due to government restrictions on many of sectors. If it goes well and at the end of spring, Nepal can have very less amount of infected peoples and there might be 0 deaths. Nepal is well popular for trekking adventure around the world and many of travelers around the world are likely to come in Nepal for adventure activities. Trekking in Nepal is so much popular because there are multiple adventure destination for trekking and they are as follows:

- Everest base camp trek
- Annapurna base camp trek
- Manaslu circuit trek
- Langtang valley trek
- Upper Mustang trek
- Mardi Himal Trek
- Annapurna circuit trek

Other than this, Nepal is also famous for cycling and mountain biking and also for local living.