

Why Roku Channels require a pay-TV subscription?

The pay-TV subscription lets you watch the entertaining channels from multiple device platforms. Subscribe to a participating TV provider to start streaming. You may receive a prompt to log in with this TV provider account while activating the channel

If you are new to Roku streaming device platform, select the best and compatible device among Roku Express, Ultra, Premiere, and Premiere plus

Now to begin the Roku link activation, collect the code and then enter the code visiting the page, Roku.com/link

If you would like to cancel the cable subscription, try activating the pay-TV subscription\

What are the available pay-TV providers to activate Roku Channels?

The lists of TV providers are here to activate Roku Channels.

- Spectrum
- Cox
- Midcontinent communication

How to stream Roku Channels using the pay-TV providers?

- Select the channels that are available to stream using a pay-TV provider subscription
- Now decide the compatible device platforms such as Roku

- Add the channel navigating to the channel store
- Tap on the channel icon
- Collect the channel activation code
- Then visit the channel activation page
- You will now receive a prompt to log in with the TV provider account
- If the TV provider is not listed, it means that the selected channel is not compatible to access using a pay-TV provider account

The TV everywhere channels on Roku Platform

Select your favorite channels to activate from the list below

- HBO Go
- ESPN
- Showtime anytime
- ABC
- NBC
- Food Network
- NBC Sports
- TNT
- History
- Disney Now

If you need help to start Roku link activation, reach out to the team of customer support. Dial the toll-free number to contact our team of experts @ +1-855-592-3030