

Zinc Dust : Formula, Properties and Uses

Zinc dust is a fine gray powder composed primarily of metallic zinc. It plays a noteworthy role in several industrial and chemical operations. From serving as an anti-corrosion facilitator to functioning in paints and coatings, zinc dust is valued for its chemical reactivity and protective elements. In this blog, we will investigate in detail the zinc dust formula, its key characteristics, and various zinc dust uses across industries.